The Thrifty Twins

PUBLISHERS

“Begin to save when you are young,” ♦
The twins’ papa advised, ♦ “And when this rule you heed, ere long, ♦ You’ll really be surprised ♦ To find how much the money’s grown, ♦ And what a tidy
sum you own.”

Don’t waste your money, toys or clothes,
♦ When you may want them, Goodness
knows! ♦ Both Dot and Don are well aware, ♦ That they should give these best of care. ♦ They may later want to send ♦
Some of these to a little poor friend. ♦

The twins are such a generous pair, ♦
All their things they love to share. ♦
They're not stingy, not a bit! ♦ Stinginess
and thrift don't fit. ♦

And the best of saving things, ♦ Is the joy that sharing brings. ♦

The twins have learned that every hour ◆ is full of things to do, ◆ So they don't waste their precious time, ◆ They're "busy bees," these two ◆ They find, however,
that it's fun ◆ To do so much that must be done.

Here is Dot and here is Don! ◆ Ah!
They have their overalls on! ◆ Now they can play without a care, ◆ For their clothes they will not tear. ◆

Dear little friends:

Aunt Rhoda said that we might write you a very little letter and so we want to say right here that we may not always be as "proper" as she shows us to be in these books (Aunt Rhoda is very clever and perhaps she feels that the best way to improve us is by telling others how very good she THINKS we are); but we do try to be as obedient, thoughtful, helpful and kind as we know how, and Mother says that while it may seem hard at first, it soon becomes a good habit, and that good habits can be formed as easily as bad ones.

Anyway, it will make us happy if our books please you (the titles are on the opposite page), and we will enjoy hearing from you if you will write us in care of the publishers.

Your loving friends,
